The fire was put in yesterday and the factory will be in operation about the first of February. Accidentally Stabbed to Death.
While playfully fighting a duel with two large meat knives in a butcher shop at Punxsutawney last Thursday evening, Willie Hill, aged 17 years, stabbed Peter Savardage, a companion, to death. Savardage only lived 20 minutes.

Candidate for Sheriff.
Samuel E. Brillhart, a prominent and active Republican of West Reynoldsville, who is well known to a large number of the Republican voters of Jefferson county, has decided to be a candidate for the nomination for sheriff of this county. While there are a number of other candidates seeking the nomination for sheriff, yet Mr. Brillhart thinks this is an opportune time for him to enter the contest, and he feels pretty sure of getting the nomination. Mr. Brillhart, who is an old soldier, is not only deserving of the nomination and election to the office of high sheriff, but he is capable of filling the office creditably.

Y., and Bridgeport, Conn.

ASSOCIATION DELIBERATES WISELY—AND JUST THEN

Someone Threw Red Pepper in the Air and Things were Said Quite as Startling as True.
Things grew a trifle warm in the Business Men's Association Thursday evening and the way the dauntless "hammer brigade" cut loose was terrific. But it was hammering with a purpose and that purpose was to get at the true reason for the present condition of affairs in Reynoldsville, and the members apparently believe the best way to accomplish that is by full, frank discussion, with malice to none and the zeal of all in view.

The peppery part of the program however did not come until after the members had authorized important steps in the way of securing authoritative information asked for by a company which will locate here if satisfactory assurance of sufficient raw material to run ten years can be given.

Several other matters were discussed, among them being the proposed conversion of the glass plant into a co-operative concern. This was brought before the Association by gentlemen interested therein and it was asked that the members lend all possible encouragement and moral support, as the most advisable course to pursue under present circumstances. It was so directed.

Affairs are moving rapidly in the Association and as one of the propositions before it must be disposed of by the middle of January, another meeting will be held Thursday of this week.

Good Words for Scheafnocker.

Grant Scheafnocker, candidate for the Republican nomination for county treasurer, was in town yesterday on business connected with his duties as Sheriff and incidentally reminded his friends that he would be in the fight to the finish. Mr. Scheafnocker is a resident of Winslow township, near Reynoldsville, and has taken much interest in county politics for many years. He has filled the important office of High Sheriff in such a manner as to cause even his political enemy to admit that he is competent, careful, painstaking and obliging. His treatment to all has been fair and honorable and the record he has made while serving as sheriff will no doubt aid him considerably in the present campaign. He is a campaigner of marked ability and stands high in the estimation of the working classes. That he will give a good account of himself in the present fight is a foregone conclusion and it's a good safe bet that his campaign will be clean and manly from start to finish.—Punxsutawney Republican.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK.

Enters the Year 1908 with Surplus Fund of $200,000.00, Capital Stock of $75,000 and Resources Over Half a Million.

With the commencement of the year 1908 the First National bank of Reynoldsville added $10,000 to its surplus fund, making a total of $100,000, exactly twice the amount of the original capital stock. This is a remarkable showing and taken in connection with the report recently published, showing resources aggregating $550,000.00 speaks volumes for the officers and directors of the bank under whose conservative guidance the commanding position which the institution holds in financial circles of Western Pennsylvania has been attained. The First National is financed and managed by Reynoldsville men and the confidence which local people repose in it is evidenced by the fact that over one half of all the money deposited in home banks has been entrusted to this institution. It is questionable if there is a banking house in the state whose funds are more skillfully handled or whose depositors are better protected.

To Old Summer 1907.

Farewell dear old summer, farewell.
Like the best of old friends we must part.
When you came you brought sunshine and warmth.
To many a sad, weary heart.
You brought the song birds to the forest.
Bright flowers you strew o'er the field.
Old earth was delighted to greet you,
And brought forth a bounteous yield.
You brought to us crops in abundance
Prosperity is spread o'er the land.
You showered your blessings upon us
With a generous and most lavish hand.
Wonders they spring up about us
As if struck by some magician's rod.
But ah! there's no magic about it.
It's the hand of the Almighty God.
Many who were here for to meet you
With a smile and bright hopes in their hearts.
Remember the cold earth they are sleeping,
They will never more see you depart.
When you come back again dear old summer
And your breath sweeps the land and the waves.
When you spread your green mantle around us
Remember the newly made graves.
On the 25th day of December
When the sweet Christmas bells they will chime.
When you pray don't forget to remember,
To mention the old summer time.
Farewell dear old summer, farewell.
Though it grieves me to see you depart,
The thought that I'll meet you again,
Leaves a bright ray of joy in my heart.
J. H. MALONEY.

WELL BELOVED LADY IS DEAD.

Mrs. Dr. A. J. Meek Passed Away Sunday Morning after a Long Illness.

FUNERAL WILL BE HELD TODAY

Mrs. Meek, wife of Rev. Dr. A. J. Meek, a noble Christian woman, died at the Baptist parsonage at 12.30 p. m. Sunday, January 5, 1908. Mrs. Meek had been under a doctor's care for a year and a half, but during her long illness she bore the suffering with christian fortitude, never murmured or complained. Every effort possible was made to restore her health, but to no avail. December 10th she was taken to Cambridge Springs, Pa., and was there under treatment seventeen days, returning home the 27th of December weaker than she was when she was taken to Cambridge and she gradually grew weaker until finally the burden bearing of earth ended, and like one who awakes from a troubled dream she awakened to see life's endless morning break.

"Weep not that her toll is over;
Weep not that her race is run.
God grant we may rest as sweetly
When, like her, our work is done."

Mrs. Meek was born at Millsboro, Pa., August 4, 1857, and was fifty-one years, five months and one day old at time of death. Her maiden name was Hannah F. Ammons. She was educated in the public schools and academy at Millsboro. She finished her musical education in Pittsburg under the instruction of German professors. She was a fine musician and she loved to play the piano. There was music in her soul. She was a music teacher for a number of years. Very early in life she united with the United Presbyterian church at Millsboro and was organist in that church a number of years.

May 23rd, 1889, she was united in marriage to Rev. A. J. Meek in Millsboro by Rev. W. M. Ryan, D. D. They resided in Waynesburg three years and a half, where Rev. Meek was pastor of the Bethany Baptist church, and it was there Mrs. Meek united with the Baptist church. They moved from Waynesburg to Greensburg, where they resided seven and a half years and moved to Reynoldsville about eight years ago, and among the people of Reynoldsville she has ranked always as a woman of culture, refinement, sympathy, a devoted mother and wife, kind neighbor and true friend, a woman of generous impulse, willing to deny herself to help others, and withal a woman of heroic mould in bravely meeting the stern requirements of life. She was a helpmate for her husband in the truest sense. She was interested in all departments of church work, and never allowed anything to interfere with her church work. She was organist in the Baptist church at this place a number of years. We unhesitatingly say there is not another woman in Reynoldsville that had more warm friends than did Mrs. Meek. She was friendly and consequently had a legion of friends.

Mrs. Meek is survived by her husband, two stepdaughters, Misses Maud and Grace, one daughter and son, Miss Helen and Master Andrew J. Meek, Jr., four sisters and one brother, Mrs. A. V. McCarty, Miss Amy Ammons, W. H. Ammons, Esq., of Millsboro, Mrs. L. B. Anderson, of Monongahela City, and Mrs. T. C. Edwards, of Pittsburg.

Funeral service will be held in the Baptist church at 2.00 p. m. today. Rev. C. H. Fitzwilliam, of Springville, N. Y., will have charge of the service. He will be assisted by a number of pastors of other Baptist churches and of other denominations. Members of the Protected Home Circle, of which Mrs. Meek was a member, will attend the service in a body. Mrs. Meek was also a member of the Utopia Society. The floral tributes were beautiful.

Interment will be made in the Reynoldsville cemetery. Hughes & Fleming have charge of the funeral.

Paid a Claim.

D. W. Atwater, of Reynoldsville, district manager of the Wage Earners' Protective Union, of Punxsutawney, paid Mrs. Sam'l J. Hiles, of Oak Ridge, $50.00 death claim of her husband, who had only paid two months on membership. The Union pays for sickness, accident or death, and at the end of five years each member receives a cash settlement. Some of the most prominent business men of Jefferson county are supreme officers of the Union.
